

PRIVACY POLICY

This privacy policy governs your use of the software application Financial Independence Calculator (“app”) for mobile devices that was created by Voglhuber. The software is a small app, which helps you with savings calculations. There are no personal information of the users, which are saved.

What information does the app obtain and how is it used?

The inputs of the user never leave the device and are not saved.

Does the app collect precise real time location information of the device?

This app does not collect precise information about the location of your mobile device.

Is the information obtained by the app shared with any third parties?

The data is not shared with any third parties.